

That's Amore (That's Love)

Words by: Jack Brooks

Music by: Harry Warren

Dean Martin has been indelibly associated with this American-Italian song ever since he introduced it in his 1953 film, The Caddy. Originally the movie's director wanted to use an old Neapolitan song like "Oi Marie" for an Italian family celebration scene, but composer Warren, himself of Italian descent, persuaded him to try a new "Italian" song. The result was the hit "That's Amore."
